This is a civil action filed pro se by a state prison inmate. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §636(b)(1), and District of South Carolina Local Civil Rule 73.02(B)(2)(e), this magistrate judge is authorized to review all pretrial matters in such pro se cases and to submit findings and recommendations to the District Court. See 28 U.S.C. § § 1915(e); 1915A (as soon as possible after docketing, district courts should review prisoner cases to determine whether they are subject to summary dismissal).

BACKGROUND

Alfred Gilchrist (“Plaintiff”), a prisoner at Ridgeland Correctional Institution, alleges that Defendants are liable for violating his “14th Amendment right, ‘failure due process’ of U.S. Constitution” by failing to arrest two persons who allegedly assaulted Plaintiff in May 2011. ECF No. 1, Compl. 3-4. He states that he told all Defendant law-enforcement officers about the assault, but that none of them would help him pursue his assailants. Id. at 3. He seeks declaratory and injunctive relief and compensatory and punitive damages. Id. at 5.

INITIAL REVIEW

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of Plaintiff’s pro se Complaint filed in this case. This review has been conducted pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § § 1915, 1915A, and the Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1996, and in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Md. House of Corr., 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995)(en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983); Boyce v. Alizaduh, 595 F.2d 948 (4th Cir. 1979).

Pro se complaints are held to a less stringent standard than those drafted by attorneys, Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978), and a federal district court is charged with liberally construing a complaint filed by a pro se litigant to allow the development of a potentially meritorious case. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007). When a federal court is evaluating a pro se complaint, the plaintiff's allegations are assumed to be true. De'Lonta v. Angelone, 330 F. 3d 630, 630n.1 (4th Cir. 2003). Nevertheless, the requirement of liberal construction does not mean that this Court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Dep't of Soc. Servs., 901 F.2d 387, 391 (4th Cir. 1990). Even under this less stringent standard, the Complaint filed in this case is subject to summary dismissal under the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B).

DISCUSSION

Plaintiff's Complaint is subject to summary dismissal without service on the Defendants because Plaintiff does not have any constitutional (or civil) right to, or, in fact, any judicially cognizable interest in, the prosecution or non-prosecution of another person. Linda R.S. v. Richard D., 410 U.S. 614, 619 (1973); see Diamond v. Charles, 476 U.S. 54, 64-65 (1986)(applying Linda R.S. v. Richard D. and collecting cases); Doyle v. Ok. State Bar Ass'n, 998 F.2d 1559, 1566-67 (10th Cir. 1993); Lane v. Correll, 434 F.2d 598, 600 (5th Cir. 1970). Also, several federal courts have held that, in general, a private citizen, such as the Plaintiff, may not recover damages under § 1983 based on the failure of law enforcement or prosecuting authorities to charge or prosecute certain other private citizens criminally. See, e.g., Collins v. Palczewski, 841 F. Supp. 333, 340 (D. Nev. 1993)(“Long ago the courts of these United States established that ‘criminal statutes cannot be enforced by civil actions.’”); Johnson v. Craft, 673 F. Supp. 191, 193 (S.D. Miss. 1987)(“there appears to be no federal constitutional right to have criminal wrongdoers brought to justice”).

Also closely on point is Leeke v. Timmerman, 454 U.S. 83, 86-87 (1981), which arose in South Carolina. In Leeke, inmates who were allegedly beaten by prison guards sought criminal arrest warrants against the guards. The inmates presented sworn statements to a state magistrate, but the state magistrate, upon a Solicitor's request, declined to issue the warrants. In Leeke, the Supreme Court of the United States reiterated its earlier holding in Linda R.S. v. Richard D., and again ruled that a private citizen lacks a judicially cognizable interest in the criminal prosecution of other persons. See 454 U.S. at 86-87; see also In re Appointment of Independent Counsel, 766 F.2d 70, 74-76 (2d Cir. 1985); Inmates of Attica Correctional Facility v. Rockefeller, 477 F.2d 375, 378-83 (2d Cir. 1973). Moreover, in its Timmerman opinion, the Supreme Court of the United States cited a similar precedent from the Supreme Court of South Carolina. See 454 U.S. at 87 n. 2 (citing State v. Addison, 2 S.C. 356, 364 (1871)).

It is elemental that “[s]ection 1983 imposes liability on anyone who under color of state law ‘subjects ... any citizen ... or other person ... to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution ...,’ and thus applies only if there is a deprivation of a constitutional right.” Bowers v. DeVito, 686 F.2d at 618 (emphasis added) (citing to Baker v. McCollan, 443 U.S. 137, 146-47 (1979); Paul v. Davis, 424 U.S. 693, 699-701 (1976); Bonner v. Coughlin, 545 F.2d 565, 567, 569 (7th Cir. 1976)). Although the Plaintiff asserts that his due process rights under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution have been violated by the Defendants’ failure to arrest and charge the persons he claims assaulted him, he does not allege that their refusal to assist him was the result of discrimination against him. The authorities cited and discussed above make clear that private citizens have no federal constitutional right to have any other individual charged with a crime, unless there are facts showing that they failed or refused to act because of racial, religious, gender or other illegal discrimination. There are no such facts alleged here and, thus, no federal cause of action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 or other federal law is stated, even under the most liberal construction of the Complaint in this case.

RECOMMENDATION

Accordingly, it is recommended that the District Court dismiss the Complaint in this case without prejudice. See Denton v. Hernandez; Neitzke v. Williams; Haines v. Kerner; Brown v. Briscoe, 998 F.2d 201, 202-04 (4th Cir. 1993); Boyce v. Alizaduh; Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d at 74; see also 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B); 28 U.S.C. § 1915A (as soon as possible after docketing, district courts should review prisoner cases to determine whether they are subject to summary dismissal).

Plaintiff's attention is directed to the important notice on the next page.
